VACAVILLE KID FEST 2009 SET FOR SEPT. 26 AT ANDREWS PARK

Kids are always looking for something fun to do and parents are always looking for fun things to do with their kids. Those two seemingly never-ending searches get a much-needed solution at Vacaville Kid Fest 2009, set for Saturday, September 26 at Vacaville's Andrews Park. The focus of this year's event is "Creative Kids for the Community." Families will be treated to live entertainment, demonstrations and a variety of performances.

Vacaville Kid Fest 2009 is a low- to no-cost child safety and health event for the whole family to enjoy. This year's main attractions are the Vacaville Fire Department's fire display, which teaches children and families about fire safety; The Vacaville Police Department's fingerprinting and child safety booths; and Northbay Hospital's health screening.

The Vacaville Fire and Police departments have teamed up once again this year to create the 2009 Kid Fest Coloring Contest. This year's contest will feature Sparky the Fire Dog and McGruff the Crime Fighting Dog. The coloring contest is opened to children 3 to 12, and a first, second and third prize winner will be awarded in three different age groups. Past winners have received bikes, art packages and toy fire trucks. The coloring contest sheet can be found at www.vacavillekidfest.org.

Other activities taking place and information available at Kid Fest 2009 include children's craft projects, games, and a variety of local non-profit organizations with a wide range of resources. Join us for a fun-filled day at Vacaville Kid Fest 2009, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturday, September 26. For more information, visit www.vacavillekidfest.org or call 449-5482.
