

Healthy Hearts and Sweethearts on February 13th at Vacaville Museum. This Valentine's Day give two precious gifts: One of love and one of life, your sweetheart, and another for someone in your community who will love you for it.

On Saturday, February 13, 2010, Vacaville Museum will collaborate with NorthBay Healthcare for a day of healthy hearts and sweethearts. From 10a.m. to 2p.m., the Blood Centers of the Pacific mobile unit will be at your museum accepting donations of critically needed life-giving blood.

In the evening, you and your sweetheart can join loving friends for a chocolates and champagne/wine reception in the Museum gallery. From 5p.m. to 7p.m., relax with your sweetheart, enjoy the sweets, and support your museum at the end of a heartfelt day. Celebrate Valentine's Day by giving blood because you love, and love your Museum because your heart is in it.

Do something special for the ones you love at the community blood drive from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Museum Courtyard. Listen and learn how to treat your heart right with heart-healthy information provided by the NorthBay medical Heart & Vascular Center team. Return with your sweetheart in the evening for a champagne-and-chocolates reception benefiting your Museum from 5 to 7 p.m.

Blood Drive signups are free and donated blood will supply our local hospitals. Blood donations are always needed, and each of us knows someone near and dear to our hearts whose life will depend on it. Sign-up for an appointment online: <http://www.bloodheroes.com/index.cfm?group=op&hlc=nvmu&hostlookupcode=nvmu> or call the Museum office, 447-4513.

Tickets for the "Love Your Museum" evening event are $25 per person and include photos with your sweetheart and a rose to take home. Be a sweetheart – Take part. This is your community and your Museum; put your heart into it. Special thanks to NorthBay Healthcare for generous support of these events.
