CITY OFFERING FACEBOOK AND TWITTER CLASSES FOR BUSY ADULTS

If you've always wanted to learn how to use Facebook and Twitter to keep up with friends and family, but were never able to find the time to teach yourself, the City of Vacaville has a couple of classes available just for you.

The City's Community Services Department is partnering with Jerry Matlin to teach his popular "Just Once Facebook" and "Twitter for Busy Adults" classes at the McBride Center from 9:30 a.m. to noon on March 13.

This one-time, 2½-hour class will teach you how to log into these sites, 'tweet and write on the wall', add your favorite pictures and find new friends. You will also learn the precautions you should use with any social networking site. The easy to understand instruction book and DVD used in class will enable you to review the material at your own pace when you return home.

If you can surf the web, you know enough to attend this class. "Just Once Facebook" and "Twitter for Busy Adults" is designed for the absolute beginner. By the end of class, attendees will know how to use both sites. Registration fee is $30, plus a $29 materials fee for a workbook and DVD. Individuals must pre-register for these classes. Register on-line at cityofvacaville.com or at any City community center. For more information, call 449-5631.
